Editorial: Early anatomical knowledge of cardiac malformation Maurice Campbell

Pathophysiology of coronary circulation. The Sir Thomas Lewis Lecture of the British Cardiac Society Richard S. Ross

External measurements of implanted pacemaker characteristics. A clinical appraisal. O. Edhag, S. Hofvendahl, I. Karlöf, and L. Mogensen

Transvenous pacemaking—a bedside technique Charles L. Baird

Pathology of idiopathic cardiomegaly in Jamaica Marie Campbell, J. M. Summerell, G. Bras, J. A. Hayes, and K. L. Stuart

Extrinsic factors in the genesis of congenital heart disease M.V. de la Cruz, L. Muñoz-Castellanos, and B. Nadal-Ginard

Congenitally corrected transposition with hypertrophic obstructive cardiomyopathy Michael Honey and Ronald G. Gold

Sustained-release quinidine (Kinidin Durules) in maintaining sinus rhythm after electroversion of atrial dysrhythmias L. Resnekov, D. Gibson, S. Waich, J. Muir, and L. McDonald

Epicardial excitation of the atria in a patient with atrial flutter H. J. J. Wellens, M. J. Janse, R. T. van Dam, and D. Durrer

Auscultatory and phonocardiographic characteristics of supracristal ventricular septal defect Odette Farrú, G. Duffau, and R. Rodriguez

Natural history of ventricular septal defect Maurice Campbell

Normal ranges of modified axial lead system electrocardiogram parameters P. W. Macfarlane, A. R. Lorimer, and T. D. V. Lawrie

3 and 12 lead electrocardiogram interpretation by computer. A comparison on 1093 patients P. W. Macfarlane, A. R. Lorimer, and T. D. V. Lawrie
